

GARRETT HEMANN ROBERTSON P.C.

CHRISTOPHER L. PALLADINO
Attorney at Law

Principal Areas of Practice
Business & Real Estate Law

Christopher Palladino is a business lawyer with well over a decade of substantial experience representing corporations, family-owned businesses and individuals in a variety of matters including business combinations, acquisitions and divestitures, real estate transactions, land use deals, and all manner of financing associated with business transactions.

Throughout his years of legal practice, Christopher Palladino has adhered to the policy that the best solutions are those that bring all parties to mutual agreement on a way forward. While this does not in any way impede his zealous advocacy on his client's behalf, Christopher understands the most durable business outcomes are achieved when he can help craft an arrangement that benefit all parties. Because Christopher has represented a variety of parties in these matters, he has developed the ability to see a deal from each participant's point of view and understand where their interests lie. This understanding leads to a more nuanced approach to representing his clients while not alienating the other side. This is especially important in representing individuals, families and companies in Salem and the Willamette Valley, where the business community is tight-knit and collaborative by its very nature.

Christopher's commitment to building sturdy legal structures was inspired by his deep-rooted interest in urban planning, community development and business more generally. His early years as a lawyer on the East Coast concentrating primarily in real estate further honed his legal acumen and nurtured his dedication to client service. As a fairly recent transplant, Christopher has put down roots in Oregon and is excited to contribute to the flourishing of this community.
